

Dear Valued Customer

The Commodity Futures Trading Commission granted Futures Commission Merchants permission to deliver daily confirmations, purchase and sale statements and monthly statements solely by electronic means as an alternative method to paper format delivery. In light of this development, Man Financial now offers two alternatives to receiving daily statements:

1. Via electronic means

We believe this method of delivering account statements is fast, efficient and cost effective. If you choose to receive your statement via electronic means, please complete the attached consent form and return it to our new Accounts Department. Please note that if you agree to such deliver, Man will transmit your account statements to you only via electronic media and all other mailings will cease.

2. Via regular mail

Although this method of delivering account statements is slower and much more expensive, you may choose to continue to receive your statement via mail. Effective February 2003, a charge will be imposed to customers receiving daily statements via mail. A fee of $1.00 per each daily statement mailed within the USA or a fee of $2.00 per each daily statement mailed outside of the USA will be charged to your account. This fee will also apply to duplicate statements.

3. Until further notice, monthly statements will continue to be sent to all customers via regular mail at no additional cost to the customer.

If you have any questions, please feel free to contact your broker.

Consent for Electronic Transmission of Account Statements

The undersigned customer ("Customer") hereby consents to receiving daily confirmations and purchase and sale statements as well as monthly statements (collectively "Statements") relating to the undersigned's account(s) with ("Man") by electronic media rather than by hard copy mailing and hereby requests that Man transmit to Customer such statements solely by electronic media designated below. Accordingly, Customer no longer wishes to receive such Statements in hard copy form via mail. Customer understands that there will be no additional cost to Customer for delivering Statements by the electronic media specified below. Customer further understands that the consent provided herein is revocable by Customer at any time upon written notice to Man's New Accounts Department.
